BAT NELSON'S BAD TALK

Beaten Champion's Hard Words About the Referee.

News came over the cable yesterday that George Siler, referee in the recent Nelson-Gans fight at Goldfield, has entered suit against Nelson and his manager, Nolan, for libel, claiming $50,000 damages.

The following despatch throws considerable light on the matter:

RENO (Nev.), September 10.—Billy Nolan, Battling Nelson's manager, is out with a vigorous statement against George Siler. Nolan in part makes the following allegations: "Certain people have roasted me for holding out for terms that I obtained in the Nelson-Gans contest. I am proud of the so-called assaults. It is certainly the business of a manager to obtain the most available terms."

"I will admit that Gans is a much more finished boxer than Nelson. His work is more artistic. This was a foregone conclusion before the men entered the ring last Monday. Now the most important question is, Did the people have the confidence in Gans that they had in the Dane? Now for the battle and what happened last Monday at Goldfield. In the first place, I warned every official in connection with the Goldfield Club that I had received wires from New York, Chicago, Boston and San Francisco, stating that something was wrong."

"Up to this time I had never suspected George Siler of being the crook he later proved to be. The battle was a rough one from start to finish, Nelson, like Gans, indulging in some rough work. One was as guilty as the other. The San Francisco gang was there and always jeered the Dane."

"Jimmy Britt, who was publicly accused of lying down to the negro, was the star booster for the negro. In the early part of the match I saw Siler deliberately pull Nelson by the hair. Every time he did this the negro took advantage by sending a stiff uppercut to the Dane's chin. This happened about a dozen times, and I appealed to Siler to stop on every occasion."

"When Gans claimed a foul and dramatically feigned pain, I jumped into the ring and appealed to Siler to call a doctor. Fully fifty seconds elapsed before he dog-facedly rendered the rawest decision ever given in a championship fight. The element that caused this was from the home of crooked fight pugilism, San Francisco."

"I can prove that George Siler received part of his money in Chicago, and the balance last Thursday at Goldfield to give the decision to Gans in the fight at Goldfield. I stand ready to back up my statements, and in time I will give the proof to the world."

WILL PLAY FOR PENNANT

Tomorrow the Alohas meet the Metropolitans in the first Winter League game and in the second, the crack teams of the Riverside League, the Chinese Athletics and the Native Palamas, meet to play off the tie game that will decide the championship of the season. This game will be interesting and close, as both teams are determined to carry off permanent honors. Each team has a large following which is sure to be in evidence.

COLD FEET WON RACE

Cripple Horse Doped Curiously Beats Bookmakers.

Carew, a cripple horse, won a race at Sheephead Bay, with his feet frozen through the application of ether and cocaine. His price was 60 to 1. The ring was hard hit over the race.

Herculeid, the famous jumper, has broken a tendon and may have to be destroyed.

Rosen with 137 pounds up, ran six furlongs in 1:12 1-5.

Hugh Gallagher of Philadelphia will train the Berkeley footballers, acting with Walter Christie.

Gans admits that he was offered $25,000 to throw the fight with Nelson.

Fred Zimmerman captains the Stanford oarsmen.

Willie Wolff and Lew Powell, the crack amateur boxers, have turned professionals.

K. C. Gillis has been elected captain of the Berkeley baseball team and Norton Wilcox, track captain.

Teddy Roosevelt, Jr. may play on the Harvard varsity football team.

Lew Powell and Willie Wolff fight 30 rounds at Colma on Sept. 24.

C. M. Daniels of the N. Y. A. C. swam 100 yards in a minute at St. Louis, equaling the world's record.

The Corinthian soccer football team lost its first game in the States to the Fall River team by the score of 3 to 0.

This year will probably be known among English turfites as Maher's year, on account of the manner in which the American jockey has carried off the biggest and sweetest plums.

He heads the list of jockeys with the best average, over 25 per cent., and comes third as regards the number of winning mounts, having secured a place in forty-seven races out of 179 in which he has ridden.

As a result of these successes he has won in stakes for his various employers no less than $217,874. Last season Maher earned $24,402 for his employers in 101 races. There is no doubt that he will considerably exceed this sum before the end of the present season.

In answer to a statement made in an Eastern paper that Charles B. Irwin made a new world's record in a roping contest at Cheyenne by roping and tying a steer in 38 1-5 seconds, Jap L. Clark writes the following:

"I will admit that that is very good time, but is nowhere near the record. Clay McGonigle tied a steer in Carlsbad, New Mexico, two or three years ago, in 24 seconds, and Wilson Carroll roped and tied one in Oklahoma last year in 22 1-2 seconds, and in January, 1905, at a roping contest in El Paso, Texas, a man by the name of Gibson, from Arizona, roped and tied a steer in less than 22 seconds. The ropers were to rope three steers each, and Gibson failed to catch his steer the second day and McGonigle won the prize by tying his first steer in 34 seconds, and the second one in 26 seconds, and the last one in 1 minute and 14 seconds. He tied the first two steers in one minute flat."

"Thirty-eight and one-fifth seconds is a very good record, but it will not do to come South with."

"Clay McGonigle pulled the bridge off his horse and roped a steer and tied him in 32 seconds in Carlsbad, New Mexico about two years ago."

INFANT MORTALITY.

The attention of the Town Council at Johannesburg, Transvaal, was last year directed to the fact that out of eighty-four infants who died in December, forty-four of them had died of dysentery. An investigation with a view of tracing the source of the disease was authorized. Under the best of conditions attacks of dysentery are very prevalent among children in warm weather, but in a large majority of cases the lives of the little ones can be saved by the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This remedy always brings prompt relief, and has never been known to fail. For sale by Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., agents for Hawaii.

THE LUCK OF JOSSES

Diverse Fortunes of the Manchuria's Idols.

There is one lucky joss aboard the S. S. Manchuria, now by the grace of the sea-gods and Captain Metcalf, safely in port. Never was joss so lucky or the lot of a joss so very excellent.

There is another joss connected with the noble ship, but sore beaten and disfigured out of all semblance of its former splendor, it drifts today, somewhere in Waimanalo bay, the sport of wind and waves and the enduring curiosity of the black tern.

The Chinese crew of the Manchuria installed on the first trip of the liner a most imposing joss, who was quartered in the after part of the ship. It was as good a joss as the ingenuity of man could devise or Mexican dollars could buy. It was a joss in all respects worthy of the magnificent vessel which is honored by its residence.

Wise and benign, it reigned over the fortunes of the ship and crew in its little alcove, sitting on a gaudily-colored mat and propitiated without cessation by the incense of punk-sticks, the spark of which was never allowed to go out.

For many a trip the joss brought good luck to the vessel and to the vessel's crew. Fair winds and absence of the dreaded typhoon favored the former and the great and good of the earth elected to travel on her. Fortune smiled on the Oriental crew from Hongkong to the Golden Gate and all the way back again. The dice games in the Asiatic steerage ran lucky for their promoters and the members of the fan-tan syndicate were on the road to comparative opulence.

For this fair favor the ship's joss got its due of thanks and presents. The punk-sticks smoldered by the dozen and the joss' alcove was littered all the time with bake-meats, preserved ginger, man-shaped ginseng roots, cochineal-colored cakes and imitation silver sycee.

And then came the crash in the fortunes of the Manchuria and that gallant vessel's joss.

The day after she piled up on the reef the Chinese aboard sought to propitiate their joss as they had never done before. Still the keel of the vessel clung to the coral reef.

Then the Orientals decided that their joss had gone back on them and action waited quickly upon this decision.

The poor joss was taken from its alcove and placed on a hatch and every Chinaman on board the vessel gathered round it. First its gorgeous raiment was stripped from it, then its eyes were put out with hot irons; next a thousand knife wounds were inflicted all over its body, an appointed teller seeing that no wound encroached upon another.

When the knife work had been satisfactorily accomplished, the body of the joss was trampled and spat on by every Chinaman present and finally heaved over the side of the vessel.

That same night a new joss sat in the old joss' alcove and before him burned the punk-sticks, spidly as of yore. With it, frantically interceded the Oriental crew for the salvation of the vessel, holding forth promises of extraordinary rewards and conjuring it by the unpleasant fate of its predecessor to give favorable aid to their supplications.

The Manchuria was saved from the tooth of the reef and for this piece of good fortune the joss has been given the limit of credit. Its little alcove has been redecorated at the maximum of taste and expense, and the scarlet, green and gold of its mat represent the most peerless product of the Eastern looms. Sweet to its nostrils rises the smoke of a score of goodly punk-sticks, tended day and night by a faithful slave, whose duty it is to see that the spark of one never dies. Stocked in the alcove are enough good things to furnish the festive board of a Chinese wedding party.

And upon all and everything the new joss gazes, to the heathen stranger, stolidly, but to his appreciative, veneration devotees, wisely and benignly.

CHINESE JOURNALISM.

The Chinese style of journalism is not exactly the same as that of the American moulders of opinion, but it gets there just as effectively when it comes to calling names. "Ho! Ho! Yellow Mouth!" is the opening phrase of an article reflecting on Wong How, appearing in the Hawaiian Chinese News, upon which Wong has entered an action for libel against Chung Chock Lai, the defense being given until next Wednesday to plead. The article, which was published as part of a feud between two of the Hilo tonga, concludes by saying: "You white-haired, spotted-face brute! Who says that the name is inappropriate?" Much of the matter, translated into English, sounds like the Bulletin.

YESTERDAY'S POLITICS

Portuguese Mix-Up, Home Rulers and Laukea.

"The boys made a mistake at the meeting Thursday night and they are beginning to realize it," said a young member of the late Portuguese Republican Club yesterday. "The trouble is that they did not know what the trouble was with the candidate they insisted upon nominating. I have been told that the vote to support Correa in the Second Precinct of the Fourth District was merely complimentary to Mr. Gonsalves and it was not to last after the first ballot in the convention. Mr. Correa was not acceptable to the voters in that precinct, nor was he in any other, as far as I am able to learn, and there is no doubt, in the minds of the people over there, that had he received the nomination he would have been defeated on election day. Castro is a superior man and there is no danger of his character being attacked. The Portuguese oppose him merely on account of his attitude in the Robinson matter but there are a number of them outside of the club who will support him for any of the offices which he is competent to fill."

It seems that during yesterday there was a change of feeling and Castro won back some of the ground that was taken from him at the meeting of the club. There is less danger of his being scratched today than there was then, but since the disbandment of the club the members say they do not feel pledged to support the Republican ticket in its entirety and that they will not vote for Brown. This sounds strange when it is known that some of the men in the club are in the service of the road department and under the watchful eye of Captain Johnson. There's many a slip between the bar and the drink and this may be one of them.

HOME RULERS TO ACT.

The Home Rulers will hold a convention back of the Noley Printing Emporium on Monday and it is thought there may be some real fusion during the early part of the day. It is rather unfortunate that this band of patriots feels the necessity for a convention on the same day that the Dems. will settle their ante-convention troubles but it is writ that the Democrats will convene at Waverley Hall on the same morning attending first to the nomination of a delegate and later to county offices and the light of Fred Terrill as an organizing beacon will shine to the limit. Just now Fred is a worker in the cause of true Democracy with the Bryan slogan stamped all over him. No one but Terrill would have butted in on a Republican meeting as he did Thursday night and call the turn on the disgruntled Portuguese as he did. And he was patient withal. When the boys told him to skidoo he did so but he failed to get further than the door. There he talked to himself of the beauties of the Democratic party loud enough for the wavering souls in the meeting to hear and heed. When he came back into the meeting, after the Republican Club ceased to exist, the boys were primed, they knew what was what and hollered for Laukea.

FUSION TALK.

There is a chance that the Home Rulers will either endorse Curtis or leave the place open for the voters to select whom they will for Sheriff. This rule may apply also, to the offices of County Clerk and County Attorney. With this sort of fusion the chances of Laukea seem good, for the dissension among the Portuguese voters has strengthened his candidacy materially. But the Brown workers are not idle, they are getting in where there is a doubt and building up certainties. The Brown men, that is, the Sheriff Brown workers, profess to be as certain today that their champion will be elected as they are sure some of the candidates on the Republican ticket will be defeated. The runners are hard at work drawing their per diem for the services they are rendering their employers in securing alleged information. This bit of news comes from one of the employers of this class of labor on the Democratic side and may be taken with the usual grain of salt.
